

2026 CANINE BREEDER EDUCATION COURSE

Join the Auburn University College of Veterinary Medicine Theriogenology Service for the 2026 Canine Breeder Education Course. This program offers 5 hours of presentations. Lunch and a certificate of attendance* are provided for each attendee.

This program has been designed for canine breeders and does not provide continuing education credits for veterinary professionals.*

Program Topics

- Reproductive Infectious Disease Concerns
- Practical Genetics
- Health Screenings and Tests
- Progesterone
- Stud Dog
- The First 48 Hours

Program Speakers

Maureen Donohue, LVT
Small Animal Theriogenology Technician

Aime Johnson, DVM, DACT
Associate Professor,
Theriogenology

Jessica Klabnik, DVM, MPH, PhD, DACT
Assistant Professor, Theriogenology

Katelyn Lundquist, DVM
AKC Companion Animal
Theriogenology Resident

Stacey A. Sullivan, DVM, DACVIM
(Neurology), Professor of Practice,
Neurology & Neurosurgery

Robyn Wilborn, DVM, MS, DACT
Professor, Theriogenology

Program Details

When
Saturday | March 21, 2026

Time
8:30 a.m. – 3:30 p.m.
(Check-in begins at 8:00 a.m.)

Where
101 Veterinary Education Center
College of Veterinary Medicine

1180 Wire Road, Auburn, AL
36832

Course Cost
$60 (On or before 2/28/26)
$75 (3/1/26-3/18/26)

Registration
aub.ie/CBEC

Contact
Meredith Smildsin,
mls0052@auburn.edu
with registration or program questions.

